GET A BIRDSEYE VIEW

Anyone selling a property knows the importance of prospects understanding the potential of the property, the buildings and the landscape. A birdseye view of your project gives prospective buyers an impressive view of the property and its potential. And the first impression of any property is an important one.

We provide a flyover service to film, edit and produce impressive professional videos for your marketing efforts for real estate or outdoor events.

Construction managers also benefit from flyover progress reports. Homeowners can get an accurate thermal image of a roof to pinpoint water and insulation leaks.

Our pilots are FAA-certified and insured with experience in both commercial and residential areas.
